Lecture by Dr. M. H. Lichter.

The third number in the lecture course will be given in the Opera Hall Thursday evening, December 15th. Dr. Lichter belongs in that thoroughly modern school of preachers that not only knows books, but men and things. He is not content to live in the cloister and the study. He gets out into the highways and byways of commerce, where men are mingling at their everyday work, and studies men in the making. As a result, when he talks he says something. There is a matter-of-fact contact with the world that gives to the things he writes and says authority and strength. There is more than mere book learning behind the man. He speaks plainly, he is the truth, ever so unpleasant. He hates sham and hypocrisy and says so. He is up-to-the-minute in his thinking, convincing in his speaking, courageous in his every attitude toward public questions. As a Lyceum speaker he always "strikes twelve." He is a man of impressive physique an excellent orator, speaking always with clearness, fire and magnetism.

Chautauqua.

C. H. Turner of New Haven, manager of the New England circuit of the Community Chautauquas, requested a meeting of the members of the local association at the club rooms Monday evening to consider the prospects for the 1922 season. He outlined somewhat the attractions contemplated, and discussed the situation at considerable length. Again the members present did not deem it wise to contract under existing conditions at such terms as the company had to offer. The following officers were elected for the year ensuing: President, C. V. Willey; vice president, A. O. Austin; secretary, A. W. Fletcher; treasurer, R. A. Bean.

Orleans School Notes.

Children in the grades have been making preparations for putting health records on exhibition and for presenting some exercise from each grade, for Parent-Teachers meeting, Tuesday evening of this week.

The following persons have been visitors: Miss Freda Stearns, Mrs. J. Gross, Mrs. R. A. Dutton, Mrs. Edna Dutton, Mrs. R. A. Bean, and Miss Elizabeth Simon.

The pupils of the fourth grade feel sorry that Gordon Hoadley is sick, an unable to be in school for several weeks.

Dorothy Forrest is a new pupil in third grade.

Pupils in grade five are glad to have Dorothy Bowman able to return to her school work again.

Pupils of the fifth grade are doing hand work preparatory to remembering children of the village less favored than they at Christmas time.

Parent-Teachers Meeting.

A Parent-Teachers meeting was held in the assembly room at the school building Tuesday evening. The large attendance evidenced a deep interest in school matters. There were more people in attendance than could be seated in the room. Never mind. We will have a larger assembly room some day. The following program with a few additions, prepared by Miss Bennett, community nurse, and the teachers, was well carried out and of deep interest.

General subject, "Health." Health motto for the year, "Every Child Normal." Motion picture, "A Fair Day," Junior Red Cross; piano duet, Geraldine Stoddard and Gertrude Wheeler; health recitation, the first grade; health song, the second grade; reading, "Health for Christmas," Betty Alden; motion picture, "Father Knickerbocker's Children," Junior Red Cross; health song, the third grade; Health Creed and Crusaders' pledge, the fourth grade; reading, "The Use of Health Charts," Eleanor Lyon; motion picture, "The Man Who Learned," State Pub. Assn.; Health pledge and posture song, the sixth grade; reading from "The Caledonian," "Preventorium," Evelyn Kinney; health exercises by the children, led by Miss Corley; health survey, Miss Bennett; public health nurse; moving picture, "The Price of Human Lives," State Pub. Assn.; community singing, F. J. Kinney, leader.
